I'M ALWAYS GLAD WHEN WINTER'S TURNED THE CORNER OF THE YEAR,
AND WE CAN LOOK AHEAD A BIT AND KNOW THAT SPRING IS NEAR.

Perhaps you do not have to 'look ahead a bit' to find spring, in March. But we do. Here in Vermont, no matter that we are in a particularly favored section, winter is still with us until nearly the end of the month.

We have always believed that one of the reasons that spring is such a wonderful time of year here in the north, is that we have to wait for it to come, for so long a time. Certainly no one who has known the full period of a northern winter can fail to be thrilled by the first Bluebird, and the first flower.

Are we to reason, then, that spring isn't welcomed in more favored sections? Of course we know that isn't true! The gardener in all of us sleeps lightly, and stirs with the first warm breath of spring.

WE're sure that YOU can feel that stirring. As soon as the gardener in you is fully awake, try this GOSSIP on him. It will help to keep him contented, til you can really get out and dig.

THE FRAGRANT SNOWBALL.

VIBURNUM FRAGRANS.

There are two facts about this beautiful and little known shrub, that may interest you. First of all, it is essentially a HARDY plant, being at its best in the colder sections of the country. And next, it is the biggest problem we have ever tried to solve in thirty years of plant growing.

Propagation is relatively simple, and we have started many thousands on their way. But the first winter and spring after propagation has accounted for 99% of all of them. Just as we think we have found a way to get them thru this trying period comes a spring when again the entire past seasons work is lost. Worst of all, once safely thru the first winter, the plant grows most easily, stands any degree of cold, transplants readily.

It is a sturdy bush, growing to eight and ten feet of height on any soil, not too wet. It is at home in partial shade, or full sun. The flower buds are formed during the summer, and all winter long the plant is a promise of glories to come, for every stem is lined, and every twig is tipped with buds. With the first warm days of April here, and as early as February in some sections, these buds turn reddish pink, and open to waxy white or pinkish clusters, delightfully fragrant, long before Forsythia shows color. We have known the half open flowers to be frozen brittle, and not be harmed. After flowering, the plants is soon clothed with rough brownish green foliage, that is very resistant to disease and insect troubles.

For this year, we have only a moderate number of plants to offer, but they are the best we have ever grown. Sturdy, field grown bushes, from two to four feet in height, are priced at--
THREE DOLLARS EACH, DELIVERED TO YOU.

PINK LILY OF THE VALLEY.

We can again offer pips of the colored Convallaria majalis. Planted this spring, some will flower, and all will grow and rapidly produce a strong clump, to flower in years to come. Best in partial shade.

THE MANAGER'S DESK.

Again the GOSSIP comes to you in an unusual form. Unusual in the sense that it is different from those sent you at other times during the year. It is, for the moment, a plant catalog, as it was a year ago. The reason is simple, and I think most of you understand. But as there are others who have only come to know us within a year I still feel a word of explanation is in order.

For ten years, GARDENSIDE GOSSIP has been published several times a season as a supplement to a general catalog, which carried as complete a line of hardy plant material as we could assemble here, and one of the largest collections in America. The catalog gave brief descriptions, and prices. The GOSSIP had the space to tell more about the interesting plants we had growing here, and to advise on the proper planting time, soils, location, and uses.

For the past two years, the general lack of help has made it impossible for us to produce the same numbers of plants as in the past, and has made the cost of the larger catalog too heavy an expense to be justified. This March GOSSIP brings you a list of the things that are available for 1946. Next year, we hope and expect to reprint the catalog.

For the newcomers, and as a reminder to older friends as well, we state the following points of our business policy. FIRST;—we guarantee plants will reach you in good condition, and will replace with plants of the same value any that may fail to do so, provided we are notified at once on arrival. We cannot be responsible for cultural failures. SECOND;—unless otherwise stated, we pay delivery charges to your door, at the prices asked, unless you live west of Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Mississippi. Please add 5% to cover higher costs, if you live west of these states. THIRD;—in order to obtain quantity rates, the plants selected must be exactly alike, —NOT three Phlox, but three Phlox Bantam. FOURTH;—Canadian customers please note that the parcel post rate is 12¢ per pound, and that we also incur an inspection fee of $1.00 on all shipments to their country. We have to add these charges to their orders.
